

The Graduate Students of the English Department present

Lee Edelman

Fletcher Professor of English Literature and Chair of the English Department
Tufts University

"Learning Nothing: Bad Education"

Thursday,
October 4, 2007

5:00 PM

List 120
64 College
Street

Reception to follow

Lee Edelman is the author of Transmemberment of Song: Hart Crane's Anatomies of Rhetoric and Desire (Stanford UP, 1987), Homographesis: Essays in Gay Literary and Cultural Theory (Routledge, 1994), and No Future: Queer Theory and the Death Drive (Duke UP, 2004). He is currently working on two book projects: Hollywood's Anal Compulsion: Psychoanalysis, Sexuality, and Classic Narrative Film, and Bad Education: Posthumanism and the Question of Values.

Sponsored by the Department of English and the Zucker Family Fund.
Co-sponsored by the Departments of Comparative Literature, Hispanic Studies, and Modern Culture and Media and The Malcolm S. Forbes Center for Media and Culture, the Cogut Center for the Humanities, the Pembroke Center for Teaching and Research on Women, the Sarah Doyle Women's Center and the LGBTQ Resource Center.