

Center for Environmental Studies, fall 2009, seminars

Date	Time, Location	Talk title	Speaker(s)
Fri, 9/11/2009	noon, UEL classroom	Panel Discussion - Climate Policy: What are the Prospects on the Countdown to Copenhagen	Timmons Roberts , Brown University; Diana Liverman , Oxford University; Nathan Hultman , University of Maryland; John Cole , Oxford University
Tues, 9/15/2009	noon, UEL classroom	Ecosystem Services: From Theory to Implementation	Anne Guerry , Lead Scientist, Natural Capital Project, Stanford University
Fri, 9/25/2009	noon, UEL classroom	Challenges and Problems for a Post-Kyoto Agreement	President Lagos , Former Chilean President, Brown Professor-at-large
Thurs, 10/1/2009	noon UEL classroom	Climate change and energy: what are the real options?	Armond Cohen , Executive Director, Clean Air Task Force
Fri, 10/2/2009	noon, UEL classroom	What are Cities Doing to Adapt to Climate Change?	JoAnn Carmin , Associate Professor, Department of Urban Studies and Planning, MIT
Thurs, 10/8/2009	noon, UEL classroom	Ecological Sanitation and Empowerment in Haiti: from Humus to Human Rights	Sasha Kramer , Co-founder Sustainable Organic Integrated Livelihoods (SOIL) in Haiti
Thurs, 10/15/2009	noon, UEL classroom	Burning the Future: Dirty coal from cradle to grave	Judy Bonds , Co-director of Coal River Mountain Watch of West Virginia
Thurs, 10/22/2009 (co-sponsored with Geo)	4PM, 115 MacMillan	An update on the global carbon cycle	Jorge Sarmiento , Professor, Geosciences and Atmospheric and Ocean Sciences, Princeton University
Thurs, 10/29/2009	noon, UEL classroom	Lake Baikal: Threats and Challenges to the World's Oldest and Deepest Lake	Marina Rikhvanova , Goldman Environmental Prize Recipient, Director, Baikal Ecological Wave, Russia
Thurs, 11/19/2009 (co-sponsored with ECI, PSTC)	noon, Mencoﬀ seminar room	Assessing the risks of climate change and climate variability on Indonesian rice agriculture	Roz Naylor , Director, Program on Food Security and the Environment, Stanford University