

Cogut Center for the Humanities
Brown University

“Taking Wrongs Seriously: Redress, Rights, and Politics”

Dr. Elazar Barkan

Co-Director, Institute for Historical Justice and Reconciliation (IHJR),
Salzburg Seminar

Professor of History and Cultural Studies, Claremont Graduate
University

Monday, May 1, 2006

6:00 p.m.

Joukowsky Forum, Watson Institute

111 Thayer Street

Open to the Public

Elazar Barkan's research interests focus on the role of history in contemporary society and politics, with particular emphasis on the response to gross historical crimes and injustices. He is the author of The Guilt of Nations: Restitution and Negotiating Historical Injustices (2000) and Claiming the Stones/Naming the Bones: Cultural Property and the Negotiation of National and Ethnic Identity (an edited volume with Ronald Bush, Getty, 2003); Taking Wrongs Seriously: Apologies and Reconciliation (an edited volume with Alexander Karn, Stanford, forthcoming).

Co-sponsored with the Watson Institute for International Studies, the Brown University Department of History, and the Brown University Provost's Office.