

“Vincent Lam illuminates where strength and resilience reside when body and soul are tested by illness. This artfully crafted, deeply moving, and profoundly intelligent book is a remarkable debut of a new voice in medical literature.”
—JEROME GROOPMAN, New York Times bestselling author of How Doctors Think

The Warren Alpert Medical School’s Department of Emergency Medicine is proud to present

Dr. Vincent Lam

The practicing emergency physician and award-winning author of Bloodletting and Miraculous Cures will be speaking at Brown University’s Warren Alpert Medical School, in the Smith-Buonanno, Room 106 on Friday, September 28 at 12:00pm.

“Searing, perfectly paced...Tender insight into the fascinating emotional and social implications of a career that is, inherently, so much more than a job.”
—Kirkus Reviews, (starred review)

Co-sponsored by the Department of Emergency Medicine, Warren Alpert School of Medicine, and the Cogut Center for the Humanities