

JOUKOWSKY INSTITUTE FOR ARCHAEOLOGY AND THE ANCIENT WORLD FAMILY WEEKEND 2010

OCTOBER 23, 2010

Joukowsky Institute
Open Morning:
Archaeology in Action
10:30 AM - 12:00 PM
Visit the Joukowsky Institute for Archaeology and the Ancient World in Rhode Island Hall. Faculty and students will be on hand to tour you through the newly renovated building, as well as to show you artifacts and images, both from some of our current fieldwork (in the Caribbean, Egypt, Jordan, and Rhode Island) and from the Institute's collections.
*Rhode Island Hall
60 George Street*

Geofizz! Archaeo-Geophysical Data Visualization Community Archaeology Day
9:00 AM - 4:00 PM
Students of ARCH 1880 will be surveying an archaeological site, in preparation for possible future excavations. Students will be using a range of tools and technologies, including resistance, magnetometry, and GPR data collection. Spectators -- or participants! -- are welcome at the Aldrich House, located at 110 Benevolent Street (between Hope Street and Cooke Street)
*Aldrich House
110 Benevolent Street*

Archaeology of College Hill Community Archaeology Day
12:30 PM - 3:00 PM
Watch Brown undergraduates digging (yes, really digging) at the John Brown House, located at the corner of Power and Benefit Street.
John Brown House, 52 Power Street