

JOUKOWSKY INSTITUTE FOR ARCHAEOLOGY AND THE ANCIENT WORLD

FAMILY WEEKEND AND INTERNATIONAL ARCHAEOLOGY DAY

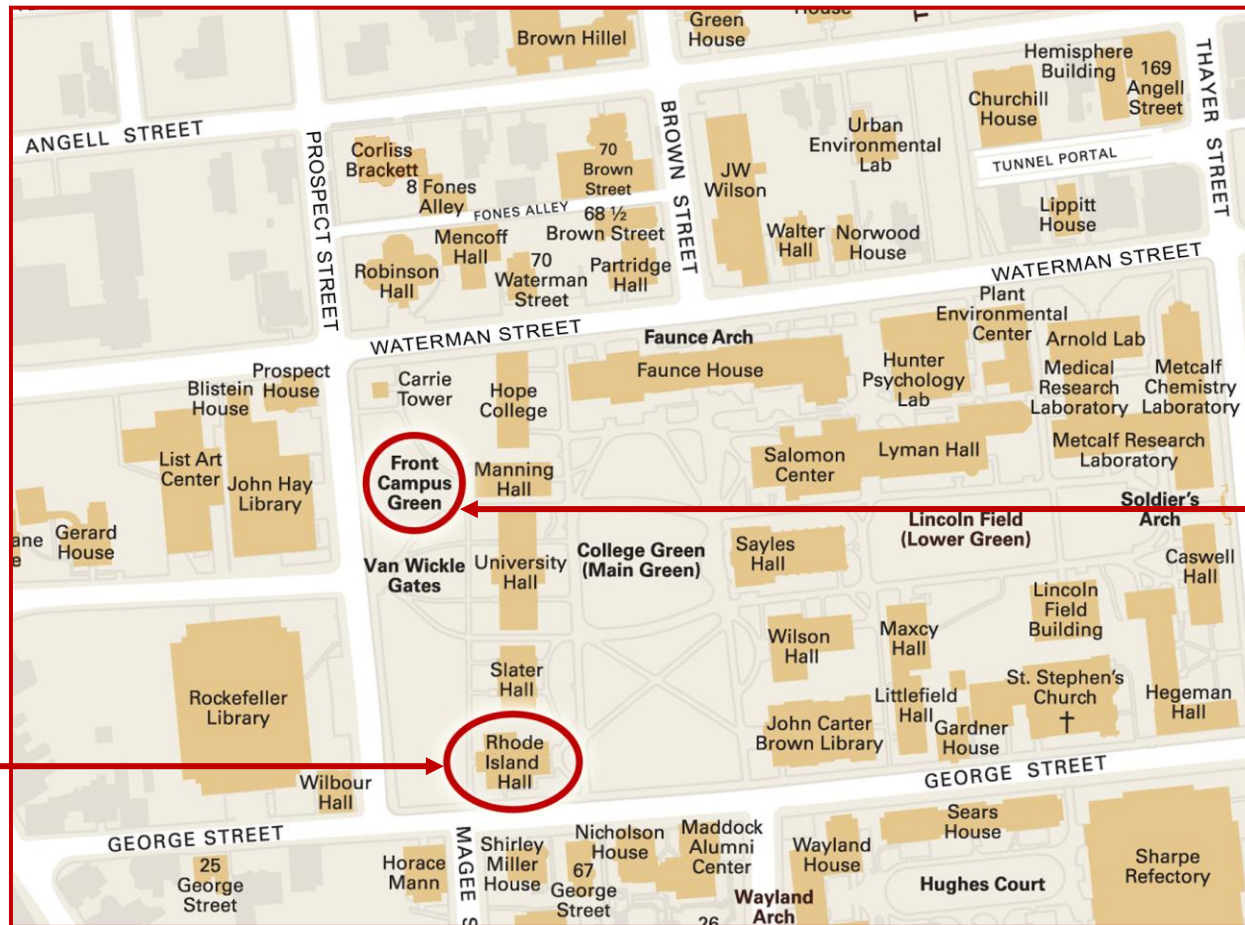

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 19, 2013

Joukowsky Institute
Open Morning:
Archaeology in Action

11:00 AM - 11:45 AM

Visit the Joukowsky Institute for Archaeology and the Ancient World in Rhode Island Hall. The Institute's Director, Professor Sue Alcock, will be on hand to tour you through the building, showing and discussing artifacts from sites such as Petra, and talking about our current fieldwork in the Caribbean, Egypt, Jordan, and Rhode Island among other places.

*Rhode Island Hall
60 George Street
(at Prospect Street)*

Archaeology of College
Hill Community
Archaeology Day

12:30 PM - 3:00 PM

Watch Brown students digging (yes, really digging). This year, as part of Brown's 250th anniversary celebration, students will be excavating right on the university's main campus, exploring the possible site of the first president's house. Stop by (with your family or on your own) any time between 12:30 and 3:00.

Brown University's "Quiet Green" (near corner of Waterman Street and Prospect Street)