Manuel Portela, Professor do Departamento de Línguas, Literaturas e Culturas da Faculdade de Letras da Universidade de Coimbra, onde dirige o Programa de Doutoramento FCT em Materialidades da Literatura. É também investigador do Centro de Literatura Portuguesa da Universidade de Coimbra. É autor do livro Scripting Reading Motions: The Codex and the Computer as Self-Reflexive Machines (MIT Press, 2013), editor geral do Arquivo LdoD: Arquivo Digital Colaborativo do Livro do Desassossego (2017; https://ldod.uc.pt/), e um dos autores participantes em The Bloomsbury Handbook of Electronic Literature (2017). Tem diversas publicações sobre literatura digital e edição digital, incluindo artigos nas revistas Digital Humanities Quarterly, Digital Scholarship in the Humanities, Leonardo Electronic Almanac, Electronic Book Review, Textual Cultures e Variants. É cofundador e atual diretor da revista MATLIT: Materialities of Literature (http://impactum-journals.uc.pt/matlit/index). Entre as suas traduções literárias, contam-se obras de Laurence Sterne, William Blake, e Samuel Beckett.

- - -

Manuel Portela, Professor in the Department of Languages, Literatures and Cultures of the School of Arts and Humanities at the University of Coimbra, where directs the FCT PhD Program in Materialities of Literature. He is also a researcher at the Centre for Portuguese Literature at the University of Coimbra (CLP). He is the author of Scripting Reading Motions: The Codex and the Computer as Self-Reflexive Machines (MIT Press, 2013), editor of the LdoD Archive: Collaborative Digital Archive of the Book of Disquiet (2017; https://ldod.uc.pt/), and one of the contributors to The Bloomsbury Handbook of Electronic Literature (2017). He has published widely on digital literature and digital editing, including articles in Digital Humanities Quarterly, Digital Scholarship in the Humanities, Leonardo Electronic Almanac, Electronic Book Review, Textual Cultures and Variants. He is cofounder and current general editor of the journal MATLIT: Materialities of Literature (http://impactum-journals.uc.pt/matlit/index). His literary translations include works by Laurence Sterne, William Blake, and Samuel Beckett.