

Wednesday, February 23
7:00 p.m.
The Science Center
Science Library, 3rd Floor

Robert Krulwich presents:

Saddam Hussein's Octopus

Co-host of NPR's Radio Lab, NPR science correspondent, and for years Special Correspondent at ABC News, Robert Krulwich has been called the most inventive network reporter for television by TV Guide. His specialty is explaining complex subjects in a style that is clear, compelling and entertaining.

He has explored the structure of DNA with a banana; created his own Italian Opera, Ratto Interessio, to explain interest rate regulation, and pioneered the use of animation on ABC and NPR's internet site.

He has won three Emmys, a George Polk Award, a Dupont Award, and the National Cancer Institute's Extraordinary Communicator's Award.

BROWN

Sponsored by:

Brown Environmental Fellows
The Woods Lectureship
The Science Center
The Career Development Center