If Brown is for you, we’ll help you get here.

Brown students are defined by talent and promise, not by financial resources. Our financial aid policies are designed to enrich our campus community by ensuring that students of talent and ambition who qualify for admission can come to Brown—regardless of their economic circumstances. We are committed to meeting 100% of demonstrated financial need for all eligible undergraduates as determined by Brown’s Office of Financial Aid.

We are “need blind” when making admission decisions (for freshman US citizens and permanent residents). The amount of aid you receive—which may include scholarships, campus work, employment, and loans—depends on how much financial support your family is able to contribute to your Brown education.

Brown provides a financial aid calculator to help estimate your family’s eligibility for financial aid as you consider your college options and opportunities. Visit financialaid.brown.edu for more details.
