An aerial photograph showing a section of the Great Wall of China. The wall, a long, light-colored stone or brick structure, winds diagonally across a vast, hilly landscape. In the foreground, a large, flat, light-colored area, possibly a field or a dry lake bed, is visible. In the background, a large, circular, tiered structure, likely a watchtower or a fortification, stands prominently. The surrounding terrain is covered with sparse vegetation and small trees. The sky is clear and blue.
