Mestizo Chronicles: Sources, Readers, Orientations

Colloquium at the
John Carter Brown Library

Saturday, February 13, 2016 || 12:00 - 5:00 p.m.
MacMillan Reading Room

In conjunction with the Creole Grammatology Symposium on February 12 at the Cogut Center for the Humanities

Panel I: New Spain
Chair: Danny Zborover
The John Carter Brown Library

‡ Andrew Laird, Brown
Humanism and Ethnohistory: European Learning in Seventeenth-Century Nahuatl Chronicles

‡ Gordon Whittaker, Georg-August Universität, Göttingen
The Identities of Ixtlilxochitl: Navigating the Sociocultural Currents of New Spain

Respondent: Amber Brian
University of Iowa

Panel II: Peru and the Andes
Chair: Parker Van Valkenburgh
Brown University

‡ José Antonio Mazzotti, Tufts/Brown
Discursive Interference and Mestizaje: El Inca Garcilaso Within the Corpus of Andean Chronicles

‡ Alcira Dueñas, OSU/JCB Library
Mapping the Andean Intellectual: Knowledge, Discourses, and Transatlantic Networking in Fray Calixto Túpac Inca’s Representación Verdadera

Respondent: Jeremy Mumford
Brown University

Engraving from Histoire des Yncas rois du Perou, Amsterdam 1737 (a French translation of the Inca Garcilaso’s Royal Commentaries) in the John Carter Brown Library. The image shows the first Inca Manco Capac and the queen Mama Oello, children of the Sun, naming the city of Cuzco and assembling its inhabitants.