Wire Transfers

Introduction
This policy states the requirements for requesting and completing a wire transfer payment to a supplier.

Policy Statement
Brown University pays suppliers using wire transfer under certain circumstances:

- International suppliers may be paid using a wire transfer
- Domestic suppliers may be paid via wire transfer in limited circumstances which must be approved in advance by the Director of Disbursements. ACH payment is available for all domestic suppliers.

Definitions
Wire Transfer: Electronic transfer of funds through the networks that unite the world's banking system.

ACH (Automated Clearing House): An Electronic network for financial transactions in the United States. ACH transactions are processed in batches and funds are typically available in the payee account the next business day. ACH transfers are less expensive than wire transfers.

Bank ABA Number: The bank routing number

BIC (Swift Code): A unique alphanumeric identifying code used to identify an institution among members of the SWIFT network (Society for Worldwide Interbank Financial Telecommunication).

IBAN: International Banking Account Number

Sort Code (UK Only): identifies both the bank and the branch where the account is held.

Intermediary Bank: The bank that processes a wire transfer after initiation by Brown University but prior to receipt by the payee’s bank.

  - Accounts Payable will update the Workday Supplier Invoice with the US currency conversion on the date the wire transfer is complete.
- Obtain wire instructions from the supplier/payee. Payee can obtain wire instructions from their bank. Wire transfer instructions are different from ACH payment instructions. Attach the bank provided wire transfer instructions to the supplier invoice.

Frequently Asked Questions

Does my department get charged for wire transfers?

No, departments are not charged for wire transfers unless the wire transfer is returned for additional information. If rewiring the funds results in a currency conversion loss, that difference will be charged to your cost center.

What would cause wires to be returned?

Banks are very particular about the information entered onto the wire transfer portal. Names and addresses must match the information on the payee bank account. Mismatches will result in returned wires. The same applies for bank account numbers, routing numbers, and additional required information.

Do I have to use Oanda to calculate foreign currency conversion?

As long as you document what you used, you may use another currency conversion website. However, Accounts Payable will update the supplier invoice with the actual currency conversion once the wire has processed.

My supplier’s instructions do not include an IBAN. What do I use?

An IBAN is an international bank account number. If you are provided with a bank account number for an international wire, you may use that number.

Why do you require the Payee’s address?

Banks require this information and all required information must be entered onto the Wire Transfer Form.
