PARKING
College Hill is crisscrossed by narrow New England streets, which are not conducive to parking large numbers of vehicles. Many families find it most convenient to unload students’ belongings onto the sidewalk and to have one family member remain with them while another finds a parking spot. Parking in campus lots is permitted from Saturday, September 5, through Monday, September 7. While ticketing tends to be relaxed during move in, it is important to heed signs pertaining to handicapped spaces and tow zones. If handicapped parking is needed, street spaces are available and special temporary arrangements may be possible in Brown lots. For additional information, please contact Student and Employee Accessibility Services (SEAS) at seas@brown.edu or 401-863-9588.

RESIDENCE HALLS
ROOM CONDITION REPORT
Each resident student must complete and submit a Room Condition Report (RCR) within 72 hours of moving into a room. Reporting any pre-existing damage in the residence hall room and/or common area is the only way to avoid being held financially accountable for damage found at the end of occupancy. Charges for residence hall room damage may not be appealed if residents do not submit Room Condition Reports at the beginning of occupancy. Complete the RCR form on-line at reslife.brown.edu.

PHONE SERVICE
Residence halls are equipped with one “live” phone jack per room; if you wish to use a land line, you should bring your own phone (one per room). From these lines, you are able to make campus calls (5 digits), toll free, and local Providence calls. Residence hall phone lines are restricted from making long distance calls; a calling card or collect call is necessary. Incoming calls are free. For problems with on-campus and local calling, please call the Brown University Telecommunications Office at (401) 863-7001.

TELEVISION
All residential students can access television channels on their computers, smartphones, and tablets at no cost using a service called Philo. This service includes a DVR feature. Students who also wish to bring a television to campus will need to use a cable to connect their computer to the TV or Roku with the Philo channel. For more information and a channel list, see brown.edu/go/iptvhelp.

PICTURE HANGING
Students are prohibited from using nails, screws, etc. to hang wall decorations and are encouraged to make use of the picture molding in each room. Picture molding hooks and wire are available in the Brown Bookstore at the corner of Angell and Thayer Streets.

REPAIRS
The Department of Facilities Management maintains all University buildings. Any room or building problems (e.g., electrical, plumbing, heat, window shades, leaks, or cleanliness) should be reported to Facilities Management. Service requests may be submitted online via brown.edu/Facilities/Facilities_Management/. The Service Response Center, which manages service requests and assigns them to the appropriate trades, is staffed 24 hours every day of the year, and can be reached at (401) 863-7800.

LAUNDRY
All residence halls have laundry facilities. Laundry machines accept Bear Bucks as a form of payment. As an alternative, Brown Student Agencies (BSA) offers several laundry service plans for students, including a dry cleaning service to save time and effort. Students who have signed up for the program may pick up laundry bags at the BSA table during the Orientation Resource Fair or at the Campus Center Info Desk. For more information or to purchase laundry service, visit the BSA website at brownbsa.com/laundry.

LINENS
Brown Student Agencies (BSA) offers students the option to purchase linens and room essentials before their arrival to be shipped to campus. To order from the Brown preferred provider, please visit the BSA website at brownbsa.com/linens. The website will also provide up to date information on delivery options and pickup locations including special early arrival arrangements.

FRIDGES AND MICROWAVES
Students can rent or purchase refrigerators or “MicroFridges” from Brown Student Agencies (BSA). Pre-rented units will be delivered directly to student rooms. For more information or to place an order, visit the BSA website at brownbsa.com/microfridge.

ROOM AMENITIES
The Brown Bookstore carries many items that students need for their rooms. In addition to lamps, storage bins, and posters, the Bookstore also carries mirrors, fans, and other commonly needed items. From mid-August to mid-September Bed Bath & Beyond operates a “pop up store” in the Bookstore with a broad assortment of items needed to outfit your room.

COMPUTING, COMMUNICATION, AND INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY
Computing & Information Services is here to help you with your technology needs during your time at Brown. If you have questions after reading this information or need help accessing or using a computing resource, contact our IT Service Center at (401) 863-4357 or help@brown.edu. For hours and information, visit brown.edu/go/ITSServiceCenter.

YOUR BROWN USERNAMES
Before arriving on campus, students activate two accounts, each with its own username and password:
1. A Brown username, used to access most services including course registration and Self-Service Banner. You already set this up when you applied to Brown. Example username: jcarber.
2. A Brown Google account, used to access email and other services provided by Google. You can activate this by following the instructions at brown.edu/go/activateemail. Example username: josiah_carberry@brown.edu.
You can manage passwords for both accounts at myaccount.brown.edu.

COMPUTERS AND EQUIPMENT
If you’re choosing a computer to bring to campus, consider that the Brown Bookstore Technology Center provides warranty repairs for Apple, Dell, and Lenovo computers at no cost, and can also complete non-warranty repairs on these and other models for a fee. If you arrive on campus without a computer, you can buy one at the Bookstore: Apple and Windows computers are available at academic pricing, as well as computer peripherals and supplies. For more information, see brown.edu/go/bookstoretechcenter. When packing your computer, remember to bring all cables, software, and a copy of your receipt and warranty information.
SOFTWARE
Brown students have access to a range of software at software.brown.edu, including Microsoft Office and Adobe Creative Cloud. Check what is available before purchasing any software. Other software is available for purchase at the Bookstore Tech Center at a student discount.

EMAIL AND MORE
With Google Apps for Education, students receive unlimited mail and drive storage, access to email from anywhere, and a host of features such as Google Docs and Google Calendar. Email can be accessed at gmail.com from any computer using your full email address as the username (e.g., josiah_carberry@brown.edu). Email is an official form of University communication. The University sends official and important messages to students’ Brown email accounts and expects students to read them. Morning Mail (mail sent during business hours) contains official University communications.

WIFI AND INTERNET
A secure wireless network called “Brown” is available in most residence halls, classrooms, academic buildings, the bookstore, and outdoor areas. To connect your computer and other devices such as phones and tablets securely, see the instructions at brown.edu/go/securesecurewireless.
Residence halls also have a wired (Ethernet) port.
Other devices, such as gaming consoles, can connect to the “Brown-Guest” network or by Ethernet cable, but you must register them before trying to connect. Personal wireless routers are not permitted in residence halls. For more information about connecting devices, see brown.edu/go/brownerwireless.

If you need to access Brown resources from off-campus, such as library resources or keyed software, you can connect with Brown’s Virtual Private Network (VPN) software. brown.edu/go/vpnhelp

ANTI-VIRUS AND SECURITY
Students are strongly encouraged to secure their computers by running a personal firewall and by having anti-virus and -spyware installed. If your computer does not already have such software, download and install antivirus software as soon as you connect to the network to protect your computer and Brown’s computing environment from viruses. Brown’s recommended solutions are Microsoft Security Essentials for PC and Sophos Home Edition for Mac, both of which can be downloaded for free on the web. Links are provided at software.brown.edu.

Security recommendations and guides can be found at brown.edu/go/jsg. The Brown Bookstore Technology Center also carries computer locks and theft tracking software. The Brown Bookstore Technology Center also carries computer locks and theft tracking software.

MUSIC AND MOVIES
Computers provide access to a multitude of entertaining as well as educational media. However, some distribution methods break copyright laws and violate Brown policy. For example, while peer-to-peer file-sharing programs such as BitTorrent are used legitimately, much of the file-trading that occurs when people use these programs constitutes copyright infringement. As a result, most copyright-holders, such as the recording and movie industries, are aggressively monitoring the Internet for infringing activity and are taking legal action (including lawsuits) against those who violate copyright. A significant percentage of those being sued are college students. In addition, Brown applies its own sanctions (loss of Internet access) when students violate the copyright policy. We want students to be aware of these costly proceedings, to know about Brown’s computing policy, and to remember their obligation to do the right thing.

Please use legal media sources such as iTunes. A list of legal alternatives can be found at brown.edu/go/legalmusicmovies.

The CIS policy page at brown.edu/go/computingpolicy has critical information for students about acceptable use of computing resources at Brown, as well as copyright infringement, email policies, etc.

PUBLIC COMPUTERS
General computing labs with both Windows and Mac computers are located in each of the two main libraries (Sciences and Rockefeller) and in the CIT building. Additional multimedia labs with specialized software are also available in other locations. Lab consultants are present most hours during the academic year to provide technical assistance. For more information, visit brown.edu/go/computinglabs.

Several public kiosks located across campus allow students and visitors to check their email or browse the web.

PRINTING
You can print to Brown’s student printing system, PAWPrints, from a computing lab or your own computer (setup required). Students receive a $30 printing credit at the beginning of each academic year. For locations, setup instructions, and printing prices, visit brown.edu/go/printing.

MAIL AND PACKAGES

and Brown Streets. Students are emailed their mail folder number along with additional mail information in early August.

SENDING MAIL TO BROWN
Brown University Mail Services will accept mail and packages from the US Postal Service, UPS, FedEx and DHL. To ensure students receive all mail and packages in a timely manner, please use the following address format:
Student Name
Brown University
69 Brown Street, Box (your mail folder number) Providence, RI 02912

Note: Do not put “P.O.” in front of the word “Box” in the address line as this is a Post Office designation not used at Brown and may delay your mail or package delivery.

Mail and packages arriving for students are delivered by the various carriers to the Brown Mail Services facility, received by Mail Services staff, and staged for delivery. Students will receive an e-mail from Brown Mail Services when mail or a package is available for pick-up. While a delivery carrier may send an e-mail with tracking information stating the package has been delivered to Brown (often inaccurate for USPS Priority Mail), Mail Services requires additional processing time which varies depending on incoming volume. Please keep this in mind when considering paying for premium delivery services, especially during peak periods such as move-in, start of semester, and holidays.
Upon receipt of a Brown Mail Services pick-up confirmation e-mail, student should proceed to J. kiosk. Mail Services staff will collect the mail or package, the student will show their ID and sign for receipt of their items.
