Summer Program in Integrative Contemplative Pedagogy
June 30 – July 12, 2014

Sponsored by the Contemplative Studies Initiative
Hosted by the CSI & the Sheridan Center for Teaching & Learning
Brown University

In our program you will be able to observe and participate in our three courses: UNIV 0540 “An Introduction to Contemplative Studies”; UNIV 0090 “Meditation and the Brain”; and UNIV 0333 “Contemplative Approaches to Living and Dying.” You will, in addition:

- Receive a selection of relevant published scholarly works on contemplative pedagogy
- Receive practical training in our unique first-person pedagogies
- Learn about faculty’s research into the outcomes of contemplative pedagogy
- Participate in workshops in to discuss and apply contemplative pedagogy with our research and teaching team and with specialists from the Sheridan Center
- Design your own contemplative studies course or incorporate contemplative pedagogy into an existing course

REGULAR Tuition for the Program: $500 (stipends for travel and housing-related expenses may become available)
BROWN/RISD Faculty, Post-Doctoral Fellows, and Graduate Students: $100

ENROLLMENT IS LIMITED to 10 people. Please apply by sending a 200-400-word application, including:
Name and Address
Academic Position and Institution
Proposed Course in which you would like to introduce contemplative pedagogy

DEADLINE: June 15, 2014 or until slots are filled
ADDRESS: Brown Contemplative Studies ICP Summer Program | c/o Brown Contemplative Studies | Box 1927 | Brown University | Providence, RI 02912
Or EMAIL: Contemplative_Studies@brown.edu