

"Epidemics of Memory"
Christopher Castiglia
Pennsylvania State University and
Christopher Reed
Pennsylvania State University

"Response: How Can We Not Speak of HIV/AIDS?"
David L. Clark
McMaster University

"AIDS, Immateriality, and the Good Death: Name, Number, and Transgender Life in India in the Wake of Global Health"
Lawrence Cohen
University of California/Berkeley

"The Archival Turn, the Affective Turn, and the Ongoing Vitality of AIDS Activist Cultures"
Ann Cvetkovich
University of Texas/Austin

"Symbiosis as Immunology"
Bishnupriya Ghosh
University of California/Santa Barbara

"ACT UP, Racism, and the Question of How to Use History"
Deborah Gould
University of California/Santa Cruz

"Risk, Genre and Cultural Annihilation"
Cindy Patton
Simon Fraser University

"ACT UP/Feel Up:
Remembering ACT UP's Body Politics"
Kendall Thomas
Columbia University

"Sudden Flowers: AIDS Orphans and the Work of Mourning"
Dagmawi Woubshet
Cornell University

Jacques Khalip, convener
Brown University

THE THOUGHT OF AIDS: Humanities and the Epidemic

APRIL 5, 2013
9:30am – 5:00pm

Pembroke Hall 305
172 Meeting Street

Co-sponsored by the Humanities Initiative, the Starr Lectureship, Department of English, Modern Culture and Media, Watson Institute, Pembroke Center for Teaching and Research on Women, German Studies, Comparative Literature, International Affairs, and the Cogut Center for the Humanities