

The Center for Latin American and Caribbean Studies and the Department of Hispanic Studies
Present

Two Talks with Argentine Writer Pablo Katchadjian

Tuesday, 2/16/16

"The More the Obstacles the Greater the Glory: Thoughts about Writing"

4:00 p.m.

McKinney Conference Room
Watson Institute
111 Thayer Street

Thursday, 2/18/16

"I Need You To Approve My Title"

12:00 p.m.

Department of Hispanic Studies
Library at Rochambeau House
84 Prospect Street

≡ Lunch Provided ≡

Pablo Katchadjian (Buenos Aires, 1977) is the author of three novels as well as poetry books, short stories and essays. Dalkey Archive and Ugly Duckling Presse will publish two of his books this year in the US (the novel What to Do and the long poem the rou of alch). He has collaborated with contemporary Argentine composers and teaches writing at the University of Buenos Aires.