An 'Earth Itself' Event | April 3-13, 2018

POSTER SESSION AND FLASH TALK PRESENTATIONS

This year's Earth, Itself poster and presentation competitions will include fascinating scholarly work from undergraduate, graduate, early career, and senior researchers affiliated with the Institute at Brown for Environment and Society, working on any aspect of the environment and climate. Posters will display innovative research findings visually, while five-minute flash talks will invite guests to explore relevant topics creatively and concisely.

Posters will be displayed in the IBES Upper Lobby from Wednesday, April 11th until Friday, April 13th.

Awards for best poster and best presentation will be announced at the 5:00pm reception at Rhode Island Hall on Thursday, April 12th.
