Among the ten courses listed above, at least four must be at the 1000-level or above. No more than a total of four classes (workshops or reading/research courses) may be taken at another institution. No more than two of the ten required courses for the concentration may also count toward fulfilling a second concentration. (Check with your other concentration advisor regarding that program's rules as to whether courses may count toward more than one concentration. The stricter limit will apply...) The three digit code for filing a concentration in Literary Arts is 717.
