

Images of Subjectivity in Samuel Beckett

*The Departments of Modern Culture & Media and English present
The Roger B. Henkle Memorial Lecture*

A lecture by

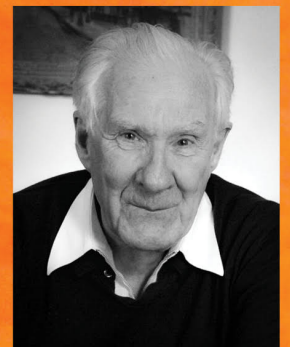

Alain Badiou

Thursday, November 7, 2019, 5:30 PM
154 Angell Street, Martinos Auditorium, Room 110
Granoff Center for the Creative Arts

Reception to follow

Beckett's novels are preoccupied with sketching the apparatus of human subjectivity. Badiou will guide us through the literary underground of this fascinating gallery of philosophical portraits.

Badiou is the Rene Descartes Chair and Professor of Philosophy, the European Graduate School, & former Chair of Philosophy, Ecole Normale Superieure.

Sponsored by the Department of Modern Culture & Media, The Malcolm S. Forbes Center for Culture and Media Studies, the Department of English, and the C.V. Starr Lectureship Fund
