OF BROWN GIRLS AND BRUJOS: Performing Intersectionality in Web TV
A lecture by Aymar Jean Christian
Wednesday, April 12, 2017
5:30 PM
McCormack Family Theater
70 Brown Street

Networked, web, and online television offer the opportunity to deepen our enactment and understanding of intersectionality. Come hear about (and see) some of the work produced by Aymar Jean “AJ” Christian's innovative Open TV (beta) project, a platform for television, video, and performance by queer and intersectional artists.

Aymar Jean Christian is Assistant Professor of Communication Studies at Northwestern University and a Fellow at the Peabody Media Center. He leads Open TV (beta), a research project and platform for television and art by queer, trans and cis-women, and artists of color.

Sponsored by Department of Modern Culture and Media, Dean of the College, Department of Africana Studies/Rites and Reason Theatre, Center for the Study of Race and Ethnicity in America, and the Brown LGBTQ Center.
