i-BSHS Lecture: Community Engagement

Friday, January 23, 2015
12:00-1:00 PM • 121 SOUTH MAIN, ROOM 245
Sponsored by the C.V. Starr Lectureship

The Department of Behavioral and Social Sciences’ i-BSHS (Innovations in Behavioral and Social Health Sciences) lecture series fosters collaborative discussion on innovative behavioral and social science-based approaches to improving population health.

Carl Latkin is Professor of Health, Behavior and Society in the Bloomberg School of Public Health. His research interests include HIV prevention and care among disadvantaged populations, domestic and international approaches to behavior change, social and personal network analysis, neighborhood factors and health behaviors, injection drug users, STIs, alcohol, harm reduction, mental health, social support, social context and risk behavior, integrating qualitative and quantitative methods.

Continue the conversation with our speaker over a light lunch immediately following the talk in room 241.
