Promoting the Health and Behavioral Health of Adolescents Who Have Grown up with HIV

Claude Ann Mellins, PhD
Clinical Psychologist and Professor of Medical Psychology
Columbia University Medical Center

April 16, 2019
12:00 to 1:00 PM
121 S. Main Street, Room 375

Claude Ann Mellins PhD, is a clinical psychologist with expertise in psychosocial aspects of HIV disease, substance use, and stress in children, adolescents, young adults and families in the US and globally. She is a Professor of Medical Psychology (in Psychiatry and Sociomedical Sciences) at Columbia University Medical Center (CUMC), as well as the co-director of the HIV Center for Clinical and Behavioral Studies at the New York State Psychiatric Institute and CUMC, as well as its T32 Post-doctoral training program. She is also Co-Director of the Office of Clinical Psychology, a professional home for clinical psychologists, functioning in clinical roles CUMC. In addition, Dr. Mellins co-founded and co-directed the Special Needs Clinic at CUMC, one of the first and largest mental health clinics for women, children, and families who have been affected by HIV.