ABOUT THE LECTURER

Jennifer Klein ’87 is a Senior Advisor to Hillary Clinton on Women’s Issues. From March 2011 through April 2016, she worked as a consultant to the Bill, Hillary & Chelsea Clinton Foundation, helping to plan and manage No Ceilings: The Full Participation Project, an initiative to assess progress for women and girls and to spur action to advance gender equality.

From 2009 to 2012, Ms. Klein was a Deputy and Senior Advisor in the Office of Global Women’s Issues within the Office of the Secretary at the U.S. Department of State. In this capacity, she worked on a range of foreign policy issues related to the advancement of women.

From February 1993 through January 1999, she worked at The White House in a dual appointment as First Lady Hillary Rodham Clinton’s senior domestic policy advisor and a staff member for the President on the Domestic Policy Council. She was responsible for policy development and strategy on health care, including health care reform, women’s health and children’s health, and on a broad range of women’s and children’s issues, including child care, adoption and child welfare, early childhood development and education.

Ms. Klein graduated from Brown University and the Columbia Law School, after spending her third year as a visiting student at Yale Law School.

She currently serves on the boards of the International Center for Research on Women, 1,000 Days, the Greenwall Foundation, and the Brown University School of Public Health.

WOMEN’S HEALTH AND RIGHTS: A MATTER OF NATIONAL SECURITY?

featuring

Jennifer Klein ’87
Senior Advisor to Hillary Clinton and Adjunct Professor, Georgetown Law Center

THURSDAY, APRIL 14, 2016
4:00 – 5:00 pm
Room 375 at the School of Public Health Building
121 South Main Street, Providence, RI

A reception will immediately follow the lecture. Both are free and open to the public.