How to Prepare for the Career Fair

BEFORE

- Prepare a brief personal introduction about your academic and other relevant experiences, including why you are interested in the organization, alum, school, or career field.
- Compose questions you want to ask so you can use your time effectively (see below).
- Plan the clothes you will wear - business casual is suggested.
- If you plan to bring one, have your resume ready in a folder.

You should also research the organizations you are interested in. Participating organizations are noted in the booklet. This research should help you understand the goals of the organization, its structure, current issues faced, and how it is positioned in its industry. Here are some questions to research:

- What does this organization do? What is its mission? How does it go about executing its mission?
- What is the organization’s position in its sector? How does it relate to other organizations in the industry?
- What is the organization’s structure? (for profit, non-profit, government, private foundation, family business, etc.)
- Number of employees? Location(s)? Impact? (sales volume, operating budget, number of clients served, etc.)
- What types of professionals work for the organization? What are some of the opportunities?

DURING

- Give a firm handshake when it is your turn to introduce yourself. Maintain eye contact.
- Speak concisely and don’t forget to smile—it shows enthusiasm!
- Feel free to take notes, and ask for a business card.

After you introduce yourself, you’ll want to have a few questions prepared to start the conversation. Indicate through your questions that you have done your research and know something about the employer. Here are some questions you may want to ask:

- What types of entry level positions or internships are available?
- What skills, background or experiences are you looking for in an entry level employee (intern)?
- What types of people succeed in your environment?
- What is a typical career path?
- How important is an internship in your industry?
- What is the culture like? The lifestyle?

AFTER

- Follow up with an email expressing thanks. Ask a question if you would like to continue developing the contact.
