Institutional Transformation and Women in the Sciences

A Public Lecture by
Dean Sue Rosser, Georgia Tech

Sue Rosser is Dean of the Ivan Allen College of Liberal Arts and Professor of History, Technology, & Society at Georgia Tech.

Dr. Rosser will outline ways in which higher educational institutions’ engagement with the issues of women in the sciences can widen the path to success for all faculty. She will identify key barriers that must be addressed for universities to better retain women scientists and engineers, and the challenges and rewards of institutionalizing ADVANCE goals.

January 29, 2009
4:00 PM
Smith-Buonanno 106
(Pembroke Campus)
Reception to follow

Presented by the Sarah Doyle Women’s Center & the ADVANCE Program at Brown
<http://www.brown.edu/Administration/Provost/Advance/>

Reception sponsored by the Offices of Women in Medicine, Institutional Diversity, & Graduate & Postdoctoral Studies, Division of Biology & Medicine