

BROWN UNIVERSITY

TWO HUNDRED AND FORTY-SEVENTH

COMMENCEMENT

SUNDAY, MAY 24, 2015

In March 1764, the “General Assembly of the Governor and Company of the English Colony of Rhode Island” gathered to consider the charter that would establish Rhode Island College (renamed Brown University in 1804). Though founded during the reign of King George III, the college was dedicated to the “liberty of conscience,” a core principle that continues to define our institution to this day. Brown’s 250th Anniversary is being celebrated on College Hill and throughout the world through May 2015. The semiquincentenary provides an opportunity to acknowledge Brown’s academic excellence while exploring new ways of collaborating across disciplines; reflect on the challenges Brown has confronted over time; and imagine Brown’s future in an ever more complex global environment.

In addition, alumni who have returned for reunions march with their classes. Once the last person is through the Van Wickle Gates on the front green, the procession inverts and continues down College Street with each participant applauding the others.

The Medical School adjourns to the First Unitarian Church on Benefit and Benevolent streets. The Graduate School procession ends on Simmons Quadrangle, where a tent accommodates spectators; additional seating is available in Metcalf Friedman Auditorium, with viewing by simulcast.

The senior class marches down College, Benefit, and Waterman streets to the First Baptist Church in America and assembles on the lawn. Family and friends wait on the College Green, where large screens afford a continuous view of the proceedings. Afterward, the seniors walk up the hill and take seats on the College Green for the University ceremony.

Parents, relatives, and friends of seniors are advised to find seats on the College Green during the opening procession. The best opportunity to take photographs of graduating seniors is at the diploma ceremonies in the afternoon. In addition, the Van Wickle Gates will remain open for photographs until 6:00 p.m. on Monday.

THE PHYSICIAN'S OATH

Now being admitted to the high calling of the physician, I solemnly pledge to dedicate my life to the care of the sick, the promotion of health, and the service of humanity.

In the spirit of those who have inspired and taught me, I will seek constantly to grow in knowledge, understanding, and skill and will work with my colleagues to promote all that is worthy in the ancient and honorable profession of medicine.

The health and dignity of my patient will ever be my first concern. I will hold in confidence all that my patient relates to me. I will not permit considerations of race, gender, sexual orientation, religion, nationality, or social standing to come between me and my duty to anyone in need of my services.

This pledge I make freely and upon my honor.

Alma Mater! We hail thee with loyal devotion
And bring to thine altar our off’ring of praise;

Our hearts swell within us with joyful emotion
As the name of Old Brown in loud chorus we raise.

And sorrows as transient as April’s brief showers
Have clouded our life in Brunonia’s halls.

Brown University's 19th President

CHRISTINA H. PAXSON

Christina Paxson is the nineteenth president of Brown University and Professor of Economics and Public Policy. She assumed the role of president on July 1, 2012.

As president, she has worked with students, faculty and staff to develop Building on Distinction, a strategic plan for Brown that will inform the University's next decade of growth and progress. The plan seeks to build on the progress of the last decade and provides a vision and set of broad goals to achieve higher levels of distinction as a university that unites innovative education and outstanding research to benefit the community, the nation and the world. It calls for targeted investments to attract and support the most talented and diverse faculty, students, and staff; capitalize on existing strengths; and provide the environment to foster rigorous inquiry and discovery across the disciplines. The plan highlights the need to keep a Brown education affordable for talented students from all economic backgrounds and to sustain a community with the diversity of thought and experience required for excellence.

Prior to her appointment as President in July 2012, she was dean of the Woodrow Wilson School of International and Public Affairs and the Hughes Rogers Professor of Economics and Public Affairs at Princeton University.

A 1982 honors graduate of Swarthmore College, Phi Beta Kappa, Paxson earned her graduate degrees in economics at Columbia University (M.A., 1985; Ph.D., 1987). She began her academic career at Princeton University in 1986, becoming assistant professor of economics and public affairs the next year. She became a full professor in 1997 and was named the Hughes-Rogers Professor of Economics and Public Affairs in 2007. While at Princeton, Paxson also served as associate chair (2005-2008) and chair (2008-2009) of the Department of Economics and was the founding director of a National Institute on Aging Center for the Economics and Demography of Aging. In 2000, she founded the Center for Health and Wellbeing, an interdisciplinary research center in the Woodrow Wilson School. The center established multidisciplinary graduate and undergraduate certificate programs in health and health policy. She served as the center's director until 2009.

Initially working on international economic problems of labor supply, mobility, savings, inequality, and aging, Paxson focused increasingly on the relationship of economic factors to health and welfare over the life course, particularly on the health and welfare of children. She has been the principal investigator on a number of research projects supported by the National Institutes of Health, including a study of adversity and resilience after Hurricane Katrina. She has authored or co-authored numerous journal articles, was elected vice president of the American Economic Association in 2012, and is a member of the Council on Foreign Relations.

Brown Commencement Traditions

Commencement day at Brown University is a time of great ceremony, pageantry, and rejoicing, much of it representing traditions that are centuries old. These notes on the history, setting, and action of the Brown Commencement are offered in the hope that they will add to your enjoyment of this unique academic celebration.

COMMENCEMENT HISTORY

The seventh-oldest college in the United States, Brown was founded in 1764 as the College of the Colony of Rhode Island under the leadership of the Rhode Island Baptists.

The first Commencement was held on September 7, 1769, in what was then the College's home, the Baptist Meeting House in Warren, Rhode Island, 10 miles south of Providence. Seven young men were awarded degrees. The institution moved to Providence the following year, and in 1804 it acquired its present name in honor of a major benefactor, Nicholas Brown of Providence, class of 1786.

For the six years prior to the Declaration of Independence, Commencement ceremonies were held in Father Snow's Meeting House in downtown Providence, now Beneficent Congregational Church. In 1776 the ceremony moved to the First Baptist Meeting House, built in 1774-75 to house the oldest Baptist church in America, founded by Roger Williams in 1638, the second year of his exile from the Massachusetts Bay Colony. The meeting house was erected "for the publick Worship of Almighty GOD and also for holding Commencement in." A National Historic Landmark, it was completely restored in 1958 through a gift from the late John D. Rockefeller Jr., class of 1897.

In the early days Brown's Commencement was known as "the festival of Providence," widely attended by enthusiastic townsfolk. So disorderly was their conduct that in 1791, the Rhode Island General Assembly passed a law requiring the high sheriff of Providence County to attend all Commencements "to preserve the peace, good order, and decorum in and about the Meeting House." The law still stands and the sheriff still marches, identifiable by full evening dress, high silk hat, blue sash, and sword.

During the 20th century, members of Brown's alumni classes began to hold their five-year reunions to coincide with Commencement weekend. Today more than 4,000 alumni and their families return to campus each year for a series of events capped by the Commencement procession on Sunday morning.

THE PROCESSION

Sunday morning, while the Commencement procession passes through Faunce Arch onto the College Green, the Brown Band begins to play the lilting “Brown Commencement March,” arranged by the late Wally Reeves. The music is punctuated by the pealing of the College bell, which has rung from the cupola of University Hall since 1791; it is joined by the Meeting House bell, imported from England in 1775.

As the procession marches from the campus down College Hill to the Meeting House, it passes through the Van Wickles Gates, which swing open only twice a year: inward to admit the first-year class at Opening Convocation in the fall and outward on Commencement Day to discharge the degree candidates.

The procession is led by the chief marshal, a member of the 50-year reunion class, the deputy chief marshal, a member of the 25-year reunion classes, and by the chief and assistant chief of staff. They are followed by the color guard and alumni aides and marshals from various reunion classes. The men traditionally dress in top hats and tails, while women wear academic robes. The faculty, thousands of alumni, the graduating seniors, medical students, and graduate students, members of the Brown Corporation, invited guests, and the presidential party round out the procession. At one point, the procession stops and forms an inversion to allow each marcher to pass by all the others, to mutual applause.

THE OFFICERS

Prominent among the marchers are members of the Brown Corporation, the University’s governing body, consisting of 12 fellows and 42 trustees. They can be identified by their large, floppy “trencher” hats, which were approved for use by the Brown Corporation in 1912 to provide a distinctive alternative to the traditional academic cap. Other colleges and universities have subsequently adopted the style. Robes, designed and adopted in 1968, are of the University’s colors: seal brown and cardinal red, with black velvet trim.

Invited guests include candidates for honorary degrees, U.S. senators and congressional representatives from Rhode Island, the governor of Rhode Island, and the mayor of Providence. The presidential party – the president, the senior fellow, the chancellor, the vice chancellor, and the chaplain – is led by a mace bearer who is a faculty member and a Brown alumnus.

THE MACE

Once a weapon used to crush an opponent’s armor, the mace has evolved into a symbol of authority. Brown’s mace, which weighs more than 20 pounds, was given to the University in 1928. It is adorned with symbols from Brown’s past and with the names of its presidents and prominent 19th-century alumni. The mace is carried in processions at the opening of the academic year, at Commencement, and at ceremonies where honors or degrees are to be awarded.

ACADEMIC REGALIA

The president’s academic gown, and the golden chain and pendant that adorn her neck, became the official presidential regalia during the University’s bicentennial celebration in 1964–65; the robe was designed by the late Anne S.K. (Mrs. John Nicholas) Brown, an expert on military and ceremonial dress. The caps, gowns, and hoods of others in the procession represent a tradition of academic dress that began in the 12th and 13th centuries, when cold stone buildings housed medieval universities. The gowns were an adaptation of clerical garb.

ACADEMIC HOODS

A scholar’s hood, worn around the neck and hanging down the back, denotes degree, field, and alma mater. The band of velvet circling the outer edge of the hood varies in width according to the highest degree attained: narrow for the bachelor’s degree, medium for the master’s, and broad for the doctorate. The color represents the field of scholarship: arts and letters, white; economics, copper; education and pedagogy, light blue; engineering, orange; humanities, crimson; law, purple; medicine, kelly green; music, pink; philosophy, blue; science, gold; and theology, scarlet. The hood is lined with the colors of the institution attended by the wearer. A Brown University hood is lined in seal brown crossed by a broad band of cardinal red.

THE CANE

The cane carried by the president of the Brown Alumni Association serves as the symbol of that office. It is made of oak taken from University Hall when the building was reconstructed during the 1880s.

COMMENCEMENT SPEAKERS

Unlike most colleges and universities, Brown imports no Commencement speaker for the College ceremonies. On the College Green on Commencement morning, two members of the senior class, selected by a faculty committee, deliver short orations.

CONFERRING OF DEGREES

The conferring of bachelor’s degrees is accomplished verbally on the grounds of the Meeting House, and the presentation of symbolic diplomas comes later on the College Green. Still later in the day, the seniors receive their actual diplomas at separate disciplinary ceremonies.

The words spoken by the president on the grounds of the Meeting House are:

Socii honorandi: Juvenes quos ad gradum Baccalaurei idoneos comperimus, vobis praesentamus, et eos ad hunc gradum promovere liceat rogamus. Candidati ad gradum Baccalaurei auscultabunt. Auctoritate mihi commissa vos ad gradum Baccalaurei admitto, omniaque jura ac privilegia ad hunc gradum pertinentia, vobis concedo. In huius rei testimonium diplomata vestris conlegis in Collegii Gramine tradam.

Honorable Fellows: The youths whom we have found to be qualified for the bachelor's degree we now present to you, and we ask that they may come forward for the awarding of the degree. May the candidates for the bachelor's degree listen attentively. Through the authority entrusted to me I admit you to the bachelor's degree, and all the rights and privileges associated with this degree I confer upon you. In testimony thereof I will presently deliver your diplomas to your representatives on the College Green.

After the president pronounces the awarding of the bachelor's degrees, all degree recipients return to the Green for the University Ceremony.

The Graduate School and Medical School have separate convocations for the awarding of master's degrees, Ph.D.s, and M.Ds.

THE UNIVERSITY CEREMONY

The president takes her seat in the centuries-old Manning Chair, which once belonged to Brown's first chancellor, Stephen Hopkins, a signer of the Declaration of Independence and an early Rhode Island governor. It was used by Brown's first president, James Manning, and has seated successive presidents at their inaugurations and on Commencement Day.

The university ceremony held on the College Green begins with the senior orations followed by the conferring of honorary degrees.

The president then bestows symbolic degrees on representatives of each category of degree and then speaks this admonition: Videte igitur ut probe, integreque, in emolumentum rei publicae et in Dei honorem, ut decet eos hoc gradu honoratos vos geratis. "Take care that you conduct yourselves, with probity and integrity to the credit of the state and the honor of God, as befits those who have been honored with this degree."

A benediction concludes the ceremony.

Directly following the university ceremony separate diploma ceremonies, inaugurated in 1974, are conducted by department chairs. Each ceremony is attended by the faculty of the department, the degree recipients, and their families and guests. A listing of the locations appears on page 36 of the program.

Candidates for Honorary Degrees

ROBERT A. CORRIGAN
Doctor of Humane Letters

A 1957 graduate of Brown University (A.B., American civilization), Robert Corrigan became one of the nation's foremost and longest-serving academic leaders. He was president of San Francisco State University for 24 years (1988-2012) and prior to that served the University of Massachusetts-Boston as chancellor for nine years (1979-88).

After Brown, Corrigan continued his studies at the University of Pennsylvania as a Carnegie fellow, earning a master's degree in American studies and working as a researcher at the Philadelphia Historical Commission. He was a lecturer in American literature and culture at the University of Gothenburg (Sweden) for three years before returning to Penn to earn his Ph.D.

He joined the faculty at the University of Iowa in 1964 in English and American civilization. In 1969, he received a National Endowment for the Humanities/Ford Foundation grant for a summer institute on the culture of black America, an area in which he worked both as a scholar and as an administrator. The NEH provided support that allowed Corrigan to organize further summer institutes on the Harlem Renaissance, Richard Wright, W.E.B. Du Bois, black women in America, and other themes. Also at Iowa, Corrigan founded one of the nation's earliest black studies programs.

Though he continued his teaching and scholarly interests, Corrigan entered higher education administration in 1973 as dean of the College of Arts and Sciences at the University of Missouri-Kansas City and then as provost for arts and humanities at the University of Maryland-College Park in 1974. He became chancellor of UMass-Boston in 1979.

Corrigan's interest in and unwavering commitment to social justice led to a storied tenure as president at SFSU, and his commitment to diversity drove significant demographic change throughout the University — faculty, staff, and students.

Tu, o praeclare alumne Universitatis Brunensis, magister, princeps civium, tuam per vitam reformandis studiis doctrinae se dedisti, excitans tuo exemplo permultos discipulos et magistros ex civitate nostra alios complecti et aliis occasionem dare atque servire. Te praeside quattuor et viginti annos, Universitas Publica in Sancto Francisco facta est exemplum quod nunc alia collegia aemulant. Confidens sensu communi omnium hominum rationem studiorum et facultatem et classem discipulorum et famam academicam in tua universitate amplificavisti. Praesertim tibi, si cuiquam, SFSU tantum progressum debet. Quod terminos rumpere, locos discendi commodiores eis qui scientiam adipisci student efficere, et beneficia non solum in regionibus quae Sinum Sancti Francisci circumdant sed etiam in orbe terrarum augere, assiduus laboravisti, Doctorem Litterarum Humanarum salutamus, honoris causa.

LOUISE LAMPHERE
Doctor of Humane Letters

Louise Lamphere, distinguished professor emerita of anthropology at the University of New Mexico, began her academic career at Brown in 1968, when the field was becoming more prominently engaged in contemporary issues — health, employment, race, gender, feminism. Her early book, Woman, Culture and Society (1974), co-edited with Michelle Zimbalist Rosaldo, was a pathbreaking work in feminist anthropology and women studies and is now a classic.

She continued to do research on women and gender, including a study in Central Falls, R.I., From Working Daughters to Working Mothers (1987), and Sunbelt Working Mothers: Reconciling Family and Factory (1993). More than 40 years of research from her dissertation, published in 1977 as To Run After Them: The Social and Cultural Bases of Cooperation in a Navajo Community, to her most recent book, a biography of three Navajo women titled Weaving Women's Lives: Three Generations in a Navajo Family (2007), has also made her an expert on family and kinship among the Navajo.

Lamphere was elected to the presidencies of the American Anthropological Association, the American Ethnological Society, and the Association for Feminist Anthropology. The American Anthropological Association honored her as a "founding mother" of feminist anthropology whose work stretched the boundaries of existing anthropological theory and "quite literally transformed the entire discipline."

Lamphere was also a pivotal figure in the late-20th-century history of Brown University. Denied tenure in 1974, she filed a Title VII discrimination suit in 1975, which led to a settlement in 1977 and the Lamphere Consent Decree. That document governed faculty hiring and tenure decisions at Brown until it was vacated in 1992 by mutual consent — after a five-fold increase in women on the Brown faculty.

Lamphere moved to the University of New Mexico in 1986. In 2008, as she considered retirement, Lamphere sought to preserve the legacy of feminist scholarship by creating the Louise Lamphere Visiting Assistant Professorship in Gender Studies at Brown, established by the Corporation in May 2008.

O anthropologa, professor, scholastica praeclara, principio cursus tui apud universitatem nostram effecisti ut omnes professores Brunenses meritos honores aequae adipisci possent. Cum professores muliebres modo quinque et viginti essent, tu assidua Universitati Brunensi intendisti litem, ex qua prospera sequentibus quindecim annis femininarum professorum numeros Universitas quinquplex augetet. Praeterea, ut emendatrix primi libri anthropologici de mulierum statu et praeses Collegii Anthropologici Americani, paupertatis valetudinisque familiarumque ampliorem investigationem qua difficiles nodi societatis solverentur poscebas. Exemplum operum tuorum et academicorum et pro bono publico quae facta apud Brunensem atque Novi Mexici Universitatem sunt sequentes inspirat ut hodie mulieribus consecutiones mutationum rerum melius intellegantur. Propter fortitudinem, aequitatis custodiam, investigationem anthropologiae urbanae eximiam, Doctorem Litterarum Humanarum te salutamus, honoris causa.

DAVID E. MCKINNEY
Doctor of Humane Letters

After a 36-year career at IBM, which included service as senior vice president and a member of the Management Committee and Corporate Management Board, David McKinney retired as president and CEO of IBM Europe in 1992.

After a brief retirement, McKinney continued to explore a number of civic interests. In 1999, he became president of the New York Metropolitan Museum of Art. As chief administrative officer, he applied his experience as a global executive to leading the museum's non-curatorial business operations: development, technology, legal affairs, finance, human resources, communications, government relations, construction, merchandizing, security and other areas. He has been a director of NYC & Company, the city's official marketing, tourism and partnership organization, and is a former director of the Philharmonic-Symphony Society of New York.

McKinney became formally involved with Brown University shortly before his retirement from IBM. He was elected to a six-year term on the Board of Trustees in 1990 and was two years into a second term when the Brown Corporation elected him to an 11-year term on the Board of Fellows in 1999.

McKinney has been associated with the Thomas J. Watson Jr. Institute for International Studies since its formal establishment at Brown in 1991. As a member and former chair of the Watson Institute's Board of Overseers, he helped establish the new institute, build its programs, and raise its profile on campus and beyond.

McKinney is president of the Thomas J. Watson Foundation and a trustee of the Paul and Daisy Soros Foundation. He is the father of three Brown graduates and grandfather of two current Brown students.

TRACEE ELLIS ROSS
Doctor of Fine Arts

Tracee Ellis Ross, widely recognized for her comedic roles as Joan Clayton in Girlfriends and more recently as Dr. Rainbow Johnson in the series Black-ish, graduated from Brown University in 1994 with a bachelor's degree in theater arts.

Ross made her film debut in 1996 in the independent feature Far Harbor, the first of eleven film roles. She starred in the 1998 made-for-television film Race Against Fear: A Moment of Truth, playing a former high school athlete who had remained silent about abuse by a track coach. Her entry into comedy came in 2000 as a regular on The Lyricist Lounge Show, an MTV variety series. She began her 172-episode run on Girlfriends the same year.

Her performances have brought her more than a dozen nominations for national awards. She has won the NAACP's Image Award for Outstanding Actress in a Comedy Series four times (for Black-ish in 2015, for Reed Between the Lines in 2012, and twice for Girlfriends, 2007 and 2009). She also received a BET Comedy Award for Girlfriends in 2004.

In addition to her performing career, Ross has developed workshops for motivational presentations, including "Tapping Into Your Creative Well," a workshop that encourages participants to discover inner joys and strengths and use them to keep their lives on course. She is also involved in mentoring and helping teenage girls through volunteer work with Aviva Family and Children Services in Los Angeles and with the Big Brother Big Sister Program, for which she has conducted self-esteem workshops nationwide. For that work, the Los Angeles Urban League honored her as its 2004 Volunteer of the Year, and she received the 2009 Impact Award from Aviva.

O tu quae histrio praemiis perornata, scaena superata, quae suasor boni ex animo exhortata, quae ingenio impulsa impetu innisa necnon lingua lasciva, tute tibi viam munivisti in ipsam arcem artis. Inde velut omne punctum tulisti conspicua tuis virtutibus ex quo primum laudem meruisti ob fabulam tuam Girlfriends. Certe quocumque loco agis partes, naturam rerum humanarum audaciter scrutata, personas formasti perduraturas quae quidem latere non possint. itaque iam innotescente tua nova ABC comoedia Black-ish, plurimus te libenter spectat et audit. Voces vero et formas varii generis laude dignata compluribus etiam profuisti. quantopere niteris suadendo ut omnes, et praecipue puellae, fiant fortes animo necnon confirmati et contenti! gaudium mundo coniunxit te cum feminis omnis generis et effecit ut consilium praebere possis quamadmodum suus cuique cultus inveniri possit inter solitos tantum imitari. Pro personis tuis venustis et unicis, pro consilio et exemplo tuo puellis, postremo pro istis tuis semper novis omnis generis ausis, idcirco te Doctorem in Artibus Elegantibus salutamus, honoris causa.

O praeclare dux, amice generi hominum, comes Universitatis Brunensis, tu doctrinam, scientiam et artes civiles non solum per civitatem nostram sed etiam per orbem terrarum auxisti. Triginta sex annos in societate, nomine "IBM", ex artibus vendendorum rerum, administrandorum systematum informationis et curandorum hominum sublimi vertice sidera feris. Te duce novae aetates et Museo in Novo Eburaco, nomine "The Met", et Universitati Brunensi satae sunt. Te praeside collegium, nomine Thomas J. Watson, sibi foedere et societate Universitatem Brunensem ad disciplinas iuris gentium, informaticae computatralis et mathematicae applicatae excolendas adiunxit. Pro rebus gestis, operis assiduis pro Universitate Brunensi et studiis doctissimorum instruendorum, te in Litteris Humanis Doctorem salutamus, honoris causa.

Doctor of Science

Susan Solomon is the Ellen Swallow Richards Professor of Atmospheric Chemistry and Climate Science at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and is the founding director of MIT's Environmental Solutions Initiative. She has been at MIT since 2011.

A chemist by training (M.S. and Ph.D. in chemistry, University of California–Berkeley, specializing in atmospheric chemistry), she served for three decades as a scientist with the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration in Boulder, Colo., where she led the Chemistry and Climate Processes Group.

It was Solomon who first proposed the theory that explained the appearance of ozone holes in the Antarctic — a reaction of ozone and chlorofluorocarbons on the surface of ice particles in high-altitude clouds. Her theory was borne out by the National Ozone Expedition to McMurdo Sound, which she led in 1986 and 1987. Her team found levels of chlorine oxides — released when ultraviolet radiation triggers decomposition of chlorofluorocarbons — that were 100 times higher than expected.

In addition to her many scientific papers, Solomon has written about the ill-fated 1912 expedition by Robert Scott, whose party of five reached the South pole but died of exhaustion and cold as they were returning to base camp. The Coldest March: Scott's Fatal Antarctic Expedition (Yale University Press, 2002) applied modern meteorological knowledge to records from Scott's expedition to understand why it ended in failure.

Solomon has been much honored for her work, including the U.S. National Medal of Science (1999), the Blue Planet Prize (Japan, 2004), the Grande Médaille (French Academy of Sciences, 2008), the Volvo Environment Prize (Royal Swedish Academy of Sciences, 2009), and the BBVA Foundation Frontiers of Knowledge Award (2012). In 1994, an Antarctic glacier and an Antarctic snow saddle were named in her honor.

Physica climatologiae clarissima, tu modum quo atmosphaeram nostram conservemus commutavisti in perpetuum, et pericula quae nobis minantur demonstravisti. Ut physica officium tuum pro republica sequens, itinera duo ad Terram Antarcticam explorandam fecisti, ubi tu prima explicavisti cur super plaga illa mundi appareret rima quaedam caeli. Investigationes tuae quae corpora hoc vitium faciant demonstraverunt. Postea dictis factisque tulisti opem illustrandi severitatem et implacabilitatem calefactionis globalis, et usquequaque investigas atque doces res varias ad commutationem climatis rapidam pertinentes. Annos quattuor abhinc, Massachusettense Institutum Technologiae te appellavit professorem chemiae atmosphaericae et climatologiae. Per hanc sellam eminentissimam educare physicos aetatis proximae potes. Inter egregiissimas laudes tuas sunt praemia suprema quae sodalitates eruditissimae ad honorem tuum contulerunt. Denique, ne omittatur illa moles glacialis Terrae Antarcticae quae e nomine tuo nominata est. Pro investigatione strenua tua, pro meritis tuis ubique comprobatis, et pro studio constantissimo ad valetudinem mundi nostri conservandam, te Scientiae Doctorem salutamus, honoris causa.

KATHRYN D. SULLIVAN
Doctor of Science

In the same year that she earned her Ph.D. in geology (Dalhousie University, 1978), Kathryn Sullivan became one of the first six women selected to join the NASA astronaut corps. In a 15-year career with NASA, she flew on three shuttle missions, including the 1990 mission by Space Shuttle Discovery that launched the Hubble telescope. In all, she logged 532 hours in space and, aboard Space Shuttle Challenger in 1984, became the first American woman to walk in space.

Following her service as an astronaut, Sullivan served as president and CEO of the Center of Science and Industry in Columbus, Ohio, among the nation's leading science museums. She was also the inaugural director of the Battelle Center for Mathematics and Science Education Policy in the John Glenn School of Public Affairs at Ohio State University.

Sullivan, currently administrator of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration and under secretary of commerce for oceans and atmosphere, is a national leader in science administration and policy. Appointed chief scientist at NOAA in 1993, she oversaw a portfolio that included research in fisheries biology, climate change, satellite instrumentation, and marine biodiversity. President George W. Bush appointed her to the National Science Board in 2004, and in 2009 she began a three-year term as chair of the Section on General Interest in Science and Engineering for the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

President Barack Obama nominated Sullivan as assistant secretary of commerce in January 2011, and she was confirmed by the Senate in May. She began service as assistant secretary for environmental observation and prediction and deputy administrator for NOAA. She was appointed acting under secretary of commerce and acting NOAA administrator in February 2013 and was confirmed by the Senate to those positions in March 2014.

O excellens indagatrix veri, o astronauta americana, contemplans eas stellas, quas numquam ex hoc loco vidimus, et eas magnitudines planetarum, quas vix concipimus! At hic in terra, femina egregia, cum administratione nationali rerum et aeronaticarum et caelestium diligenter laboravisti. Prima femina americana caelo inambulavisti, illuc in machina ter volavisti et telescopium hubblense statuisti. Dehinc investigationes scientificas in administratione nationali marium aetherisque curabas. His rebus tuis celebratis, a senatoribus tam maxime probata es ut magistratus duos tibi mandarent. Nunc consilia tua a multis quaesita et a te omnibus hominibus munifice data sunt. Propter res gestas pro scientia et disciplina, et propter conservationem mundi nostri pro saeculis futuris, te Doctorem in Scientia salutamus, honoris causa.
